OTTAWA

A city rich with parks, museums and historic sites, this Capital City of Canada also has an elegant yet robust outlook on business and pleasure.

FAIRMONT CHÂTEAU LAURIER

Next door to the Parliament Buildings stands the Fairmont Château Laurier. A grand limestone building, with turrets and masonry reminiscent of a French castle, it is one of Ottawa's great landmarks. Recently renovated, the Fairmont Château Laurier reflects the confidence, dignity and style of Ottawa. Yet, more to the point, the Fairmont Château Laurier shares with the city a refined yet robust outlook on business and pleasure. Its meeting facilities are as functional as they are elegant. Over the years it has served as the stately home-away-from-home to both politicians and visiting royalty. Perfectly situated in the heart of the capital, it is close to the National Arts Centre, the new National Art Gallery and Museum of Civilization as well as the Ottawa Congress Centre.
