MEETINGS THAT MATTER

Stanley Park Tour

Stanley Park Ecology Society promotes awareness of and respect for the natural world by playing a leadership role in the stewardship of Stanley Park through collaborative initiatives in education, research and conservation. A half-day program is designed to provide an experience in an engaging and informative format about some of the fascinating aspects of Stanley Park, while gaining a greater appreciation for the natural world at the Fairmont Pacific Rim's doorstep. Attendees will have the opportunity to:

- Have a close look at one of the largest great blue heron colonies in the province (seasonally dependent)
- Learn about the multitude of waterfowl inhabiting Stanley Park
- Walk through the forest and discover gigantic cedar trees and how they have helped shape the way of life for Coastal First Nations communities
- Consider the impact of windstorms and other natural events on the forests and wildlife of the park
- Explore the biofiltration wetland and discover the role it plays in restoring the ecological balance of Lost Lagoon
- Learn about the extraordinary experiences of women of diverse heritage who played a crucial role in Stanley Park's history
