BROWN'S BEACH HOUSE RESTAURANT

Big Island-inspired cutting edge cuisine takes center stage at The Fairmont Orchid's AAA Four Diamond award winning Brown's Beach House restaurant known for its expansive ocean views, incomparable cuisine and sophisticated service with Aloha. Brown's Beach House is named after Francis Pi Brown. "Uncle Francis" was part Hawaiian and a brilliant waterman. He dove, he was a net fisherman and a gifted surfer. He would come to this place called Kalahuipua'a to escape from the hustle and bustle of his travels and spend his days fishing, farming and relaxing. Uncle Francis lived the ancient Hawaiian value of ho'okipa, which means hospitality. It is because of his connection to this land that we named our award-winning restaurant after him.

In honoring his legacy, this menu is best described as contemporary Hawaii Island cuisine. The menu, which changes seasonally, features the freshest seafood, local meats and locally sourced produce from the farms of Hawaii Island. Dinner served nightly with evening entertainment by an accomplished Hawaiian guitarist.
