CAPRICE SIGNATURE COCKTAILS

THE EVOLUTION OF MUSIC

In the 21st century the music of the future has become the sound of now. It began as a beat forged in America before spreading throughout the world; in nightclubs, fields and festivals, a new way of life was born.

FOUR TO THE FLOOR 8

Found deep in the soul classic The Love I Lost is a music revolution and rhythmic innovation where drummer Earl Young's famously created the relentless four to the floor disco that people could get their groove on to. The 120 beats to the minute quickly established itself as the musical signature of New York's embryonic disco culture, becoming a gateway to escapism and changing lives forever.

Jameson, Chocolate, Beet Lemonade, Cardamom Honey, Peat Whisky

ON & ON 8

The Roland 808 drum machine was the perfect piece of kit to get the creative juices flowing of the novice producers of Chicago house scene. With its easy to master technology in 1984 DJ Jesse Saunders released the hypnotic electronic dance song "On and On"; the world's first house record. The house music of Chicago was born, and so was the future of dance music!

Rum, Coconut, Vanilla, Citrus, Sumac, Rose, Cranberry, Pink Lemonade, Bitters

THE BELLEVILLE THREE 8

Influenced by Kraftwerk's Teutonic electro-pop and Alvin Toffler's concept of "techno rebels," a clique of deejay-producers - Derrick May, Juan Atkins, and Kevin Saunderson - started making their own music, influenced by the gritty and industrial back drop of their home city of Detroit. With its infectious basslines it was no surprise that by the late 80s techno had blown up with tracks such as "Strings of Life" and "Good Life", being played around Europe's dancefloors.

Bourbon, Martini Rosso, Campari, Slow-Dripped Coffee, Seasonal Fruits & Herbs

IT'S ALL GONE PETE TONG! 8

House would have remained an underground dance moment if it was not for a chance discovery by a young British record scout, Pete Tong. One day he opened a box of at one of his favourite record stores in London and was astounded by its "embarrassment of riches"; unearthing records from the newly emerging house sound of Chicago, and quickly realised he was onto something. In 1986, Tong organised a compilation album, The House Sound of Chicago, Vol. 1, the first British release to gather and expose this genre.

Pear Vodka, Gin, Avocado, Cucumber Water, Cinnamon, Apple & Pear Shrub, Soda

GET LUCKY 8

Melody Maker dubbed their early music “a daft punk trash”; but these helmet-clad retro futurists have continually defied convention, mixing era-defining tunes that have stood the test of time

Citron Vodka, Crème De Cassis, Hibiscus Triple Sec, Rosemary, Pomegranate, Lemon, Orange Oils

LOVE SAVES THE DAY 8

David Mancuso revolutionized night life in New York (and eventually the world) by hosting the first ever underground party, “Love Says the Day”, at his downtown loft on Valentine’s Day 1970. Every Saturday over the next decade his top-of-the-line sound system delivered an eclectic musical mix to his guests, becoming a near religious-rite for the city’s underground. His only request was that each song had soul, rhythm, and imparted words of hope, redemption, or pride.

Cognac, Frangelico, Arak, Roasted Almond, Cashew & Hazelnut Orgeat, Cream, Nutmeg

STUDIO 54 8

Despite being only open for three years, Studio 54 was a place that not only redefined the nightclub, but also came to symbolize an entire era by becoming the emblematic hot spot of ‘70s disco nightlife. A-list stars flocked to it in their droves, crossing the club’s hallowed threshold to a sight of extreme extravagance and flamboyance. Lest we forget when Mick Jagger’s (now ex-) wife Bianca, memorably entered the discotheque on horseback.

Blanco Tequila, Aperol, Apricot Brandy, Passion Fruit, Orange, Lemon, Apricot Grenadine, Sumac

MILLIONAIRE’S PLAYGROUND 8

Over the past decade EDM, or Electronic Dance Music, has become young America’s party soundtrack of choice; powered by turbo-charged “bangers” that eschew traditional instruments in favour of robotic beats, digitised basslines and cut-up vocals. Las Vegas has turned itself into the 24-hour party capital with sold out super-clubs spanning the length of the city’s strip; and in the process making their resident DJs millionaires many times over.

Vodka, Rum, Ruby Port, Bedouin Tea, Lemon
