Through the use of tam-tams, discover how your working groups listen and collaborate to harmonize to the sound of a single rhythm. During the tam-tam session, the group creates a musical piece together using individual tam-tams (African percussion instruments). This musical activity is relaxing and amusing and strengthens loyalty to the company. More importantly, the members learn to trust their group and understand that, even if each person's rhythm is unique, the result will only be better for it. Self-actualization and exploring one's ideas fully through music is an ideal way to communicate and share your company's key values and messages.
